

Hi, Neighbor!

By TONI ROSS

A Chat on This and That

Well, I've run across a couple of real gems. They are two booklets compiled by Mrs. Gwen Lewis, Box 665, Quesnel, B.C. These can be obtained for $1.00 each and believe me, they are wonderful reading. They are called Buckskin Cookery. Volume I is called the Pioneer Section with recipes and lore contributed by pioneers of the Cariboo and B.C. Volume II is called the Hunting Section. If you have a hunter, trapper or fisherman husband in your house, this is an absolute must.

The Pioneer Section includes recipes for such things as bannock and sourdough, dandelion salad, ways of keeping carrots and lettuce throughout the winter. A section is devoted to various jams made from berries and Rose hip jam and jelly is included.

There are many honest hints, and it tells you what color dyes may be obtained from various flowers and roots. There is a section on tanning and home remedies for minor ailments.

RECIPES WITH A WARNING
The hunting booklet is full of fish, fowl and meat recipes. The most cover bear, beaver, deer, goat, moose and porcupine cookery. While there are many delicious recipes, got a real hang out of the recipes received from the Indians. They are written down exactly as quoted.

For instance under Owl or "Big Eyed Chick", it says: "Pluck out feathers. Pull out guts. Cut in pieces and boil in water with salt. Add flour to thicken. Do not eat too much of big-eyed chick. . . makes sickababel!"

The fowl section also includes a recipe for mule and crow. Under meats there are directions for Beaver Tail Steaks and old and visiting my sister 30 miles west of Prince George. There was no means of getting to town except hunting it. (We didn't.) We had run out of meat and set out snares. Miraculously by two of them worked and we had two fine rabbits. Those rabbits were still quivering when we put them in the pot, and oh boy, were they good!

This booklet gives directions on dressing and tanning wild game. It gives hunting hints, even a list of carcases. How to get rid of skunk odor is another interesting item.

The two booklets are the most refreshing things I've read for a long time. I think you'll really enjoy them. They both include many delicious recipes for more common garden cooking too. (Well, and you soon!)

Howse Pass Delegation Well Received

Ten men, representing various communities and the Central Alberta Chamber of Commerce, headed by Mr. Dick Fritzen, president of the Central Alberta C. of C. group, boarded a plane at Nisku Airport Tuesday, April 23, headed with maps, letters, facts and figures proving that the David Thompson-Howse Pass route by Trans-Canada Highway is a feasible project.

Besides Mr. Fritzen, included in the group were Mr. Scott, Alderman for the City of Edmonton; Mr. Bill Scott, Alderman for the City of Red Deer; Mr. Bill Soltes, president of the Red Deer Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Bob Montrose, vice chairman of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce; Fritzen and a member of the Transportation Committee of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Cliff Sullivan, a director on the Central Alberta C. of C.; Mr. George Horn, also a director on C.A.C. of C.; Mr. Clayton Kennedy, president of the Rocky Mountain House Chamber of Commerce; Mr. W. G. Johansson, president of the Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce; and Mr. A. Playford, also of the Drayton Valley C. of C.

The group arrived in Vancouver in the early evening and were immediately granted an interview with Mr. Elwood Rice, president of the point-to-point Tourist Association. When they found a very receptive listener to the proposed new cut-off route, Mr. Rice has business in Vancouver and he said that during the past winter a very large number of Alberta license plates were present on the streets of Kelowna and many other central B.C. towns. He knew that the opening of the Howse Pass had brought in a great number of tourists, many more than had come in previous years, from Alberta and the central province into, but not from Alberta in particular.

MR. STEPHAN A. KUFFERSCHMIDT

conspicuous by the Germans into their army. He saw service until the collapse of Germany in World War II and then returned to his native town in Yugoslavia. The business had closed down due to war conditions and in 1947 Stephan and his mother re-opened the business and he ran it till 1951 when the Red Government took over the business and nationalized it. Stephan then went to Budapest where he attended school again, making cost accounting and statistics. Then the Reds conscripted him into their army, where he reached the rank of sergeant. He served 28 months and was discharged, late in the year of 1953.

Mr. Kufferschmidt then went to work for a mining equipment firm, in their cost accounting department in Budapest. It was here that he met his future wife Judith, her date being right beside him. They worked there until the Hungarian revolution in 1956. Though Stephan did not take part in the actual fighting he did make speeches in the factory to the workers, so when the revolution was brutally crushed by the Red army tanks, he was a marked man, and he and Judith escaped to Austria, the first week of December, 1956.

DRAYTON VALLEY POLICE COURT

With the recent sentencing of six young men to a year in Fort Saskatchewan for various thefts around Drayton Valley 54 cases were sent under the Criminal Code of Canada by Town of Drayton Valley Police.

For stealing an automobile one man got a month's sentence to Fort Saskatchewan. For driving what was under suspicion, one received a fine of $100. Two cases of impairment, or of being under the influence of alcohol drew a $500, and six months and a fine of $150, with six months suspension in one case and a fine of $150, with six months suspension in the other.

None of the men who were formed a delegation to meet with various groups in Vancouver, regarding the building of the Howse Pass Highway, during the past week. Left to right they are Mr. Bill Soltes, President Red Deer Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Cliff Sullivan, a director on the Central Alberta Chamber of Commerce, and a representative of C.I.D.V., in Drayton Valley, Mr. Bob Montrose, Vice president of the Edmonton Tourist Association, and member of the Transportation Committee, Edmonton Chamber of Commerce; Bill Scott, Alderman City of Red Deer, representative of CKRD; Red Deer, Mr. A. Playford, Chairman Highway Committee, Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Clayton Kennedy, President Chamber of Commerce, Rocky Mountain House; Mr. W. G. Ten Commandments for Church Etiquette

Taken from Vital Christianity

A Lutheran pastor in North Carolina has written what he calls "Ten Commandments for Church Etiquette." Each one is phrased and makes a suggestion concerning how we behave ourselves in the house of God. Their value seemed to be sufficiently great to merit quoting here. So here they are:

- "I. Thou shalt not come to service late, nor for the Amen to wait."
- "II. Thy duty requires that thou remain when spoken the organ is in its refrain."
- "III. And when the hymns are sounded out, thou shalt join in, not look about."
- "IV. The outdoor seat thou shalt leave free, for more to receive the new with thee."
- "V. Forget not the offering plate, nor let the usher stand on wait."

First Baptist Church News

School (teaching school for male and female) will be held at the First Baptist Church, 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Sunday.

During this year of funerals the First Baptist Church has been attending the University of Saskatchewan pursuing graduate studies in the field of nursing education. The will also be speaking to churches at the General Conference, sharing with the congregation the work on the field of education.

Who's New?

MISS LOIS HOWAT

Miss Lois Howat after three years of nursing education in Idaho, Miss Lois Howat will teach at all of the services of First Baptist Church, at 1:00 p.m., 11:00 a.m., and 1:00 p.m., on Sunday May 5.

Miss Howat's convention took place at a very young age, and the desire to tell those in other lands about God of salvation was evident during childhood days. Following high school graduation in the province of Saskatchewan, Canada, Miss Howat spent one year as a substitute teacher in a little country school. The burden for the mission field became greater during this year. During the summer of 1964, Miss Howat spent a four month course in Ontario prepared her for the nursing school on the foreign field. She graduated in 1967 from Bethel College in St. Paul, Minnesota, with an A. A. degree. A year at the University of Saskatchewan and two years of study at Bethel Theological Seminary completed her 7 years of preparation. Miss Howat was appointed by the Baptist General Conference in September, 1968, and arrived in Idaho in the following May.

Activities on the mission field are not always easy, but sometimes tedious and strenuous. Learning the different language was a long procedure, as it was interpreted with medical doctors. WILD OAT CONTROL
The newer Avelon format, Avelon BW is giving its worth in wild oat control. Not that it provides a greater measure of control than the original Avelon, but it does what the original Avelon does not do - it kills the seedling wild oats before they can become a problem.

1968, legumes and grasses as we well as many irrigated crops are now available in a revised and more complete "Fertilizer Recommendations for Alberta".

The kind and amount of fertilizer needed by various crops is determined by the soil and the kind of land conditions. For example, "Fertilizer Recommendations for Alberta" provide a guide to the kind and amount of fertilizer needed by various crops.

There have been those who have said that the use of Avelon BW is a waste of money. However, the use of Avelon BW is a waste of money only if it is not used properly.

With wheat, Avelon BW at 1 to 1 1/2 pounds per acre is recommended. Since wheat is a cereal, it is a good idea to use Avelon BW at 1 to 1 1/2 pounds per acre.

LYNX PROTECTED BY LAW
The Government of Alberta is required by law to protect lynx. Lynx is a protected animal in Alberta. It is a protected animal in Alberta.

Canada Lynx are appearing again in fringe areas of cities, towns, and villages at several points in Alberta. A fairly common occurrence during the past two years, in particular, this seemingly unnatural behavior by a notoriously timid wild animal does not present any serious threat to people and livestock.

Lynx populations increased a few years ago in response to a significant increase in the numbers of sheep. Traditionally, rabbits were the primary food source for lynx. However, following their reproduction explosion and their subsequent depletion, lynx have turned to sheep as their primary food source.

any reason. Why permit common sense and common sense to be supplanted by this dedication with vandalism?

Any citizen who seriously believes that the lynx or other wild animal presents a real threat to his belongings should contact the nearest fish and wildlife officer at once. Every person is right who defends his property if it is under attack but one is privileged to slaughter protected animals on the basis of assumption.

He recommends making the trench large enough to accommodate all the trees. If possible it should be on the north side of the kind of timber. The large bushes of trees, which are made up of several small ones, should be left standing. They are put into the ground. The trench can be safely left in the trench for 10 to 14 days if the soil is not too hard.

FARM NOTES

SHOULD WE SUMMER FALLOW?
It is summerfallowing on a large scale will be necessary in areas which normally receive adequate rainfall. According to A. W. Coates, Assistant Supervisor of the Agricultural Department, summerfallowing is often overdone in certain areas of the province.

He went on to explain that summerfallowing may be necessary to conserve some of the moisture falling upon the land in the spring. However, in some areas, summerfallowing is usually applied to the land in the spring and the land is then planted in the spring.

It is true that summerfallowing releases and accumulates available nitrogen in the soil. However, the release of nitrogen is not the only reason for summerfallowing. It is often more practical and economical, therefore, to use a nitrogen fertilizer.

Following may also be necessary to control certain weeds. Again there are alternative methods which may cause more effective and economical control. New and improved chemicals are one alternative while crop rotation which includes grain and legumes reduce weed and improve the soil's structure and fertility at the same time.

The adoption of grain legumes in rotation with wheat is a very effective method of controlling weeds. The adoption of grain legumes in rotation with wheat is a very effective method of controlling weeds.

Mr. Coates feels that these alternatives should be very seriously considered by farmers in the prairie and wooded areas of the province. Under such a program which permits the land to be used for a variety of crops and pastures.

Apart from the hazards of soil erosion, can we afford to cultivate land for summerfallowing for that year? Farmers should consider the fact that summerfallowing is an expensive operation today, costing anywhere from $5 to $8 an acre.

PICK THEM UP WITHOUT DELAY

More than 4,000 rural applicants will receive free trees from the Alberta Department of Agriculture's nurseries at Brooks and Oliver during the next week. Applicants are being processed by mail before the trees are shipped so that they can pick them up without delay.

P. D. McCalla, Supervisor of Horticulture, says all those receiving government trees this spring to collect them as soon as they arrive and to be sure to plant them in the ground. The trees are being planted in the ground so that they can pick them up without delay.

He recommends making the trench large enough to accommodate all the trees. If possible it should be on the north side of the kind of timber. The large bushes of trees, which are made up of several small ones, should be left standing. They are put into the ground. The trench can be safely left in the trench for 10 to 14 days if the soil is not too hard.

The soil must be well packed around the roots of the trees when they are planted in their permanent location and if possible they should be watered periodically. A new method, published by the Canada Department of Agriculture, entitled "Transplanting Trees and Shrubs" contains sections on planting trees and shrubs in the ground. The sections on planting trees and shrubs in the ground are available from the Extension Service of the Alberta Department of Agriculture in Edmonton.

Each section with eight compartments, handles up to two hands and layers. Planting the trees in the ground is a very effective method of controlling weeds. The adoption of grain legumes in rotation with wheat is a very effective method of controlling weeds.

The first Alberta Milk Producers Short Course, held earlier this month in conjunction with the annual meeting, was a successful success, according to A. W. Coates, Assistant Supervisor of the Agricultural Department, summerfallowing is often overdone in certain areas of the province.

A new type of testing box recently introduced by a British Columbia, is claimed to cut the number of dead-end calls to a minimum 30-40 virtually eliminate dairy errors.

According to R. H. McMillan, Alberta's Poultry Commissioner, the boxes are in two tiers with a sloping wire floor covered with marling to provide a soft landing for the eggs. The result is that few eggs are lost through the wire. They roll out through the wire and are not lost through the wire.

Mr. Coates feels that these alternatives should be very seriously considered by farmers in the prairie and wooded areas of the province. Under such a program which permits the land to be used for a variety of crops and pastures.

Apart from the hazards of soil erosion, can we afford to cultivate land for summerfallowing for that year? Farmers should consider the fact that summerfallowing is an expensive operation today, costing anywhere from $5 to $8 an acre.

Tender Roast Beef and Meat Planning Ideas Presented for Pembina News Advertiser Readers by the Home Service Department of Northwestern Utilities, Limited.

Bridal luncheons are just around the corner, try one of these tasty tempting recipes.

CHICKEN DIVAN
1 (2-lb. size) broiler-fryer chicken, halved.
3 celery stalks, with tops, coarsely cut up.
2 parsnips, halved.
1 onion, coarsely cut up.
1 can (19 1/2 oz.) chicken broth undiluted.
2 tsp. (1/2 tsp. each) frozen herb mix.
1 tsp. thyme.

Sauce:
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup unfluffed all-purpose flour.

1/2 cup, salt
Dash pepper
3/4 cup light cream
3 tsp. thyme
1/2 cup heavy cream
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Pasta recipe:
1. Day before, assemble casserole: In large skillet with tight-fitting cover, place the chicken together with celery, parsnips, onion, and chicken broth.

2. Bring to boiling, reduce heat and simmer, covered, 45 minutes or, until the chicken is tender.

3. Remove chicken from broth. Carefully remove skin and bones.

4. Strain broth. Measure 2 1/2 cups (if necessary, add water to broth). Set aside for sauce.

5. Meanwhile, cook the broccoli until it is tender. Drain well.

6. Divide broccoli into 8 light-colored individual casseroles each about 1 1/4 cup deep.

7. Place a chicken-breast half on broccoli in each casserole. Sprinkle each with a dash of thyme.

8. Make Sauce. Melt butter in medium saucepan, over low heat, remove from heat.

9. Add flour, salt, and pepper, stirring to make a smooth mixture. Gradually stir in broth and light cream.

10. Bring to boiling, stirring, reduce heat, and simmer 2 minutes, or thickened sauce slightly.

11. Stir in thyme. Remove 3/4 cup sauce, cool slightly.

12. Use rest of sauce to coat chicken in casseroles (about 1/4 cup for each).

13. Heat heavy cream just until stiff. Gently fold into reserved sauce until well combined.

14. Spoon over casseroles. Top each with a dash of 1 tablespoon cheese.

15. Refrigerate casseroles, covered, overnight.

16. About 1 hour before serving, preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Also let casseroles stand at room temperature 10 minutes.

17. Bake, uncovered, on high rack in oven, 30 minutes, or until bubbly and browned. Garnish with parsley. Makes 8 servings.

PALACE COURT SALAD
3 tbsp. finely chopped stuffed olives.
1 tsp. finely chopped green pepper.
1 tsp. finely chopped onion.
1/2 cup mayonnaise or coleslaw dressing.
1 tsp. chili sauce.
2 tsp. milk.

Salad:
1 pkg. (10-oz.) frozen artichoke hearts (1 cup).
2 tsp. bottled clear French dressing.
2 tsp. cream cheese.
2 large tomatoes.
3 cups (packed) finely shredded iceberg lettuce.
1. Make Dressing. Combine all ingredients in small bowl, blend well. Refrigerate, covered in oil well chilled, several hours or overnight.

2. Make Salad: Cook artichokes as package directs; drain. Turn into medium bowl; mix with 3 tsp. French dressing. Refrigerate, covered several hours or overnight.

3. Drain crabmeat. Toss with remaining French dressing in medium bowl. Refrigerate, covered several hours or overnight.

4. To serve salad, trim ends from tomatoes; discard. Halve tomatoes crosswise, to make 4 slices in all.

INVESTORS KEEP OUT!

(if this is what we want - there's an easier way!)

Investors mean prosperity for the area they help to develop. But... if we really don't want them, we need not shut our baggers. Government take-over of industry is enough to deter investors - and can blame them? A prominent Provincial Official has said:

"Take-overs of private industries are damaging the confidence of private investors. I have tangible evidence that such talk is scaring investors out of other provinces and into ours. A province which wants to attract investors must not talk of nationalization."

Already, such talk in Alberta may have caused enough harm - but consider what would happen if this threat went into effect. Let's show new investors that free enterprise will always be free in Alberta.

GORMLEY ON SPORTS

BASEBALL SOON

It's time to play the game of games, baseball, the National Pastime of our very good neighbors to the South of the border.

The American people. Through April and May thousands of thousands of boys, on thousands of teams and in hundreds of leagues all the way from New Mex to Alaska and from East to West across this great continent are getting in trim for the 1963 Minor Baseball season. Some localities get an earlier start, some the old ball season, then others, the weather being such an important factor in this game of baseball. It would seem, however, that time is ripe and we have reached the ball season here in Drayton Valley.

As in years gone by the local Minor baseball program will be carried out under the auspices of the Drayton Valley Athletic Association. By Minor baseball we understand all age groups from Pee Wee to Juvenile inclusively. I would guess that some 150 boys from Drayton Valley will be registering to play ball this season.

The play or potential will be at its height at the Pee Wee level where we hope to field six teams in an inter-town league. A bit later in the season we will try to form an all-star team at this level if interest warrants it.

In the Junior group, that is the 12-14 year olds, I would say that one team would be our limit. There is a good chance that these boys will be playing in a league comprising Trent, Drayton Valley, Thibault, Warburg and at least one other nearby community. All matters concerning ball games will be finalized no later than next week.

It would seem that we will not be leading a modest team this year as juvenile ball will likely be the focus in this group. This, however, may be a difficult decision to reach before all the registrations are in. We have entered the Edmonton District Baseball Association Juvenile League which carries three C-level clubs as well as teams from Viking, Hardsburg, and Camrose.

The league schedule opens early in May, closes for the month of the school year from June 9 to July 1, and then is resumed for the month of July and August. The winner of the post-season playoffs in this league will be proclaimed the Alberta Juvenile baseball champion.

The registration in the Drayton Valley Athletic Association of baseball will be $12.00 per player or as in past years. Over and over again the player will be required to put a deposit of $5.00 on his uniform. This sum will be refunded when the uniform is returned at the close of the season. This deposit was brought about because of the growing and alarm has not been returned at the close of each and every playing season, in baseball, football and hockey. Not to speak of football and hockey, there are still some thirty - four base ball uniforms missing from the 1962 season. This missing equipment is valued at approximately $250.00 which is a great deal of money for an association like the Drayton Valley Athletic Association. In the past years unreturned uniforms and equipment have been given up as hopelessly lost or the value of $250.00 which again is just more than the Association can afford if it is to continue its wonderful work in the sponsorship of Minor sports in Drayton Valley.

So it's baseball time again in Drayton Valley. We look forward to a good season at all levels and weather permitting we should better last year's mark by a good margin.

D. V. POLICE REPORTS

Line had been real quiet, not that they minded in the least. This year to the end of April there were 49 cases of liquor infraction. The year there were over 60 and the year before a similar number.

For Intoxication one man was fined $25. For Illegal Possession of a license five were each fined $50, and for Illegal Consumption two were fined $10, each. Of course all the cases stated above included court costs. In connection with the liquor act violations a big Indian got tanked up on Tuesday night and invaded a large number of private residences while the ladies of the house were home and peeped in the windows of several others. Detained in the Drayton Valley jail he was held till he sobered up and then he would be summarily released.

Under the Motor Vehicle Act, 22 cases of damaged vehicles were reported to Drayton Valley Town Police. Damage to fifteen of these vehicles involved was over one hundred dollars.

Under the Child Welfare Act 12 children, ranging in ages from 4 to 17 years, were made wards of the Welfare Department. One of these was the pregnant young girl involved in the above noted case of incest, listed under the Criminal Code of Canada.

Political Gripe. — "Yes, I have heard the voice of the people calling me to duty," Breckenridge says. "Maybe it was an echo."

Chasing the border they had a very narrow escape. They were captured by the Russians just two miles from the line and were very nearly sent back to what- ever fate might have awaited them back in Red dominated Hungary. However, Providence was with them and since they were with another man, a relative of Judith's who lived right on the border they finally convinced the Red soldiers that they were merely going to say with her relative, since Budapest had been badly bombed and many homes and apartment houses had been destroyed. Two other factors worked in their favor also. First Stephen could speak Russian and so could converse with them, and he told them about his service with the Red Army etc. and since they had no belongings with them except what they were wearing he convinced them that they were not trying to escape, but merely to find shelter. At the same time they were apprehended near the border, the Russian soldiers also stopped some others who were headed down with suitcases and were obviously trying to get out of the country. Another factor in their favor was that the Russian soldiers called up for a truck to take them back, but all they could round up were two motorcycles with stickers. Since there was room only for other vehicles to escape. In the interim the soldiers told Stephen and Judith they were to go on. They did go on right across the border into Austria.

Arriving in Austria Stephen and Judith were married and Stephen went to work for the Austrian government as a translator, speaking Yugo-Slavic, Russian, German, Hungarian and Austrian. In August of 1947 they came to Canada, coming directly to Drayton Valley where a relative of Judith's, Mr. John McNeil was already located. Arriving here both Mr. and Mrs. Krepfenheim went to work immediately. Stephen for Fiat Rig and Judith for Dair Shopping Centre where she worked for five years, working for Mr. Conger after he bought it from Mike Dale and the large shopping centre became known as Conger's Red and White Store.

Stephen worked for Fiat Rig as a laborer till late that fall when their work ran out and then he went to work for MacCallister Construction who were doing a lot of building in Drayton Valley. Stephen says he worked on many places that are now well-known in Drayton Valley. The Hospital, the Junior's restaurant, the Lutheran Church, the curling rink, the Mobil Travel Centre, to name a few. He remained with MacCallister until the day got ready to open their fine new store in Drayton Valley in 1959, and then, responding to an advertisement the company had for a men's wear clerk, he went to work in the mens wear department for the day. A month later he was put in charge of the department, a position he held ever since. Stephen will be in the local store only a short time longer however, for the company is transferring him to the mens wear retail store in the Mens Wear Department, so the Krepfenheims will be leaving Drayton Valley shortly. A couple of months ago both recently became Canadian citizens, receiving their naturalization papers in an appropriate ceremony in Edmonton.

Asked what he felt was the most unforgettable experience of the hell they and millions of others went through during the Russian Red crushing of the Hungarian revolution, Mr. Krepfenheim said that several instances stood out in his mind indelibly, one of which was the Hungarian revolutionaries applied the huge staked up bodies in the square. They of Stalin in the square. They stretched cables around the form-red dictator neck and all first the people tried to pull it over by these maneuvers, made doubly strong by the strength of their hatred, but the state had been made on a steel foundation and so finally they had to get serious and cut it off at the base, and then they looked at the cables and pulled the state over and then dragged it around the city. Another unforgettable sight, said Stephen, was the sight of 15 and 14 year old schoolboys standing steel Russian tanks, practically with bare hands, they would attack these steel plated monsters, with nothing but Molotov cocktails (gasoline filled cans) which were thrown at the tanks. Of course these daring youths died by the multiplied hundreds; more martyrs to the cause of Freedom, the light of Freedom might never be extinguished from this earth. They did not die in vain.

For although the revolution was crushed, and the iron clamp of military dictatorship descended once again over the entire city and country, that same unquenchable spirit still exists, and doubtless will rise again, to find a happier conclusion.

ist potential of at least a million people, which is the largest increase possible for our source made and whereas only 25 miles of Howse Pass Highway at the extremely low cost of from five to six million dollars whereas from this lucrative market, and whereas these 25 miles can be completed and completed by or before 1966, much sooner than any other highway route, thus enabling us to take full advantage of this tremendous potential.

So it therefore resolved: That this convention urge, our provincial Government to undertake the construction other Howse Pass Highway in the immediate future.

business, to whom very interested in what the group had to bring forward in the way of new highway proposals. Mr. Fritz as President of the Central Alberta Chamber of Commerce was guest of honor at this meeting, which had been arranged several weeks previously and spoke following the luncheon, he presented a very impressive and logical argument from an economic standpoint. Mr. Fritz was followed by Mr. Bob Morrison, who has many, many facts and figures at his tongue's tip regarding the new cut proposed cut-off route. Mr. Morrison showed his map which had been prepared and hung in the room previously. Mr. Morrison had done an excellent job in presenting the map and he also did an excellent job in presenting the case for the building of the highway. The Deputy Minister of Highways, Mr. Tom Maitland then was called upon to say a few words. Mr. Maitland readily stated all issues that might tend to be different than what he had presented. The chairman of the meeting Mr. Neil McKendrick was chairman of the Transportation and Customs Bureau for the Greater Vancouver Board of Trade. Mr. Maitland and Mr. Fritz were also at the head table. Another man was Mr. Telesco, secretary of the Transportation and Customs Bureau, G.V.B. of T. and Mr. Walker, manager of the B.C.

Consensus of opinion among all the delegates was that the proposed new link between Vancouver and British Columbia as a whole. Almost certainly each of the groups contacted were convinced by the Alberta dele-

Albertans want new B.C. link

A new shortcut highway linking the centre of Alberta with B.C., which requires only 77 miles of construction to complete, is being urged here by a 10-man Alberta delegation.

Automobile Association.

During the afternoon the group had an opportunity to meet with Hil Winkler, the Mayor of Vancouver. Mayor Winkler and several of the City Aldermen, City Engineer and Traffic Engineers, here the case was again presented to men who were certainly not antagonistic to the idea as presented, even though they could give no formal decision without due deliberation by all the council members.

In the late afternoon the Alberta group were presented as invited guests at a reception held by the B.C. Tourist Association. Here they had opportunity to present the case to individuals in the Tourist Association group and they all found that their reception was very good, as almost all of B.C. had noticed a rise in the number of Alberta cars visiting in B.C. since the opening of the Rogers Pass.

The following day Mr. Fritz and Mr. Morrison were invited guests at a luncheon meeting, and were asked to present the case for the benefit of all the members present. This they did most ably. Mr. Morrison with the aid of his large map.

P.V. POLICE REPORT
Beating a Board bill cost one man the price of his board bill, several days lost from work, and a $20 fine. Alvin's cousin Billy Ham, drew a 20 day sentence in Fort Saskatchewan prison.

A case of incest brought one young man a very severe sentence of three years in prison. Albert Pettimetry and the girl involved in the case was made a ward of the Welfare Department.

For causing a disturbance two received fines of $25. each. Three charges of uttering also brought a three year sentence in Prison. Albert. A case of assault in which a man was charged with beating his wife, drew a six month suspended sentence. And the six young men, mentioned earlier, who were charged with the same offence, drew the year sentence. The men were sent to Fort Saskatchewan for the time being, but in all six cases the magistrates made the recommendation that they be sent to Bowden, at a later date.

President of the Central Alberta Chamber of Commerce, spoke in the B.C. Tourist Association convention.

The David Thompson highway has been hardtopped from Red Deer to Nordegg, and another 25 miles of gravelled highway is completed. Only a 25-mile link remains to connect with the Mandel-Lapier Highway at the Saskatchewan border, and the Alberta government plans to build that next year.

CONCRETE TO PASS

From Saskatchewan Crossing the B.C. portion would go west over Howe Pass and down the Blueberry River to Donald, just east of Rogers Pass. Traffic would then reach the Coast by way of Rogers Pass.

The Alberta government plans another cutoff highway from Nordegg to Drayton Valley (see map) which will further reduce the travelling distance to Edmonton, he said.

The Alberta delegation, representing communities and chambers of commerce, ex-posed the proposal to Vancouver Board of Trade and city council.

Thursday Robert B. Morrison, vice-chairman of B.C. Tourist Association, and Richard C. Fritz of Center-

Under the Traffic Act having no license plates cost two drivers $5. and $10. respectively. Four cases of Canadian Driving were driven the following sentences: $10, $25, and two fines of $50. The two fifty dollar fines were also accompanied by a suspension of driving privileges for the next six months.

Spending within the limits of the Town brought fines of Ten dollars to one and $20 to two others. One of the ten dollar fines handed out by the magistrato also was given to one of the young men who had just received a $50 fine and a six month suspension.

In connection with some of these cases Chief Constable Miles issued a warning regarding speeding and parking areas with a motor vehicle inside the Town limits. He said his department would not tolerate any form of irresponsible action, endangering the lives of children. He asked that persons noticing this type of shenanigans to turn immediately phone on Drayton Valley police. He stressed, however, that as most instances it was young drivers coming into town from outside the town.

Wine House Trailers with no license plates were noted and the owners received a maximum fine and had to purchase license for their mobile homes.

Under the Liquor Act the local police department noted that the first of the year fines in that case the magistrates made the recommendation that they be sent to Bowden, at a later date.
